Careers in Roofing and Building Envelope Construction

WTI is going places, and so can you. With a wide range of roofing and building envelope construction positions available across the country, we offer rewarding career paths to match your professional aspirations, wherever you start. And if completing your education or acquiring journey-level skills is one of your goals, our Construction Management Degree and Apprenticeship Program* might be just what you're looking for.

WTI positions are as diverse as our staff, with jobs that allow you to work in the field or within an office environment. And because both the roofing industry and WTI are growing rapidly, all positions offer opportunities for advancement for years to come.

With a long-term career path in mind, positions with WTI include:

- Repair/Coatings Crews
- Field Foremen
- Field Supervisors
- Estimators
- Specification Writers
- Construction Associates
- Project Managers
- Construction Managers
- Program Managers
- Regional Business Managers

APPRENTICESHIP PROGRAM

Acquire Journey-Level Skills

WTI's Apprenticeship Program* combines on-the-job training with related online and classroom instruction. Our program is nationally accredited and federally sanctioned, so it's recognized in all 50 states and U.S. territories.

Apprentices receive 4,000 hours of work instruction and 392 hours of online and classroom instruction, including 17 credit hours towards an Associate of Science Degree. Upon completion, an Apprentice Completion Certificate is earned.

* Available Summer 2019

Investing in you.

If you're interested in a professional career in construction management, but a college degree seems out of reach while you pursue real-life work experience, we invite you to consider applying for WTI's one-of-a-kind work/college program.

Qualifying full-time and part-time employees can pursue an Associate or Bachelor's degree in construction management through a unique online program developed by The University of Akron for WTI. Taught by the same high-quality faculty who teach classes on campus, The University of Akron's online construction management curriculum allows employees to advance through an Associate Degree followed by a Bachelor's degree at their own pace.
