

Now there's a way to earn your college degree while you work. And we'll pay for both.

With a long-term career path in mind, positions with WTI include:

- Repair/Coatings Crews
- Field Foremen
- Field Supervisors
- Estimators
- Specification Writers
- Construction Associates
- Project Managers
- Construction Managers
- Program Managers
- Regional Business Managers

If you're interested in a professional career in construction management, but a college degree seems out of reach while you pursue real-world work experience, we invite you to consider applying for WTI's one-of-a-kind work/school RISE program.

RISE was created by WTI in collaboration with The University of Akron with your needs and aspirations in mind. Once accepted into the program, 100% of your online tuition is paid by WTI while you gain invaluable work experience with WTI as a part-time or full-time employee.

University of Akron degrees available include:

Taking careers to new heights.

Online Degrees from The University of Akron

With 22,000 students and more than 300 associate, bachelor's, master's, doctorate and law degree programs, The University of Akron (UA), located in Akron, Ohio, offers the career-focused and experiential learning that helps students get ahead in the job market.

Taught by the same high-quality faculty who teach classes on campus, UA's online construction management curriculum allows WTI employees to advance through an Associate Degree followed by a Bachelor's Degree at their own pace.

The Associate Degree and Bachelor's Degree constitute a step-up, Associate-to-Bachelor's degree program directed toward the commercial and industrial construction fields. And because we understand how challenging it can be to juggle work and school, the degree programs work in harmony to ensure the Associate Degree will perfectly equate to the first two years of the Bachelor's Degree.
